ABOUT

ABHOW started in 1949 with the establishment of Pilgrim Haven Retirement Community, now known as The Terraces at Los Altos, in Los Altos, California. The original purpose to provide quality housing and health care for retired American Baptist ministers and missionaries grew to include older persons regardless of occupation or religious affiliation. From one community serving nine residents in 1949, ABHOW has expanded to 50 communities in six states, with more than 2,400 team members serving 6,200 residents.

ABOUT

Asbury Communities began in 1926 on 130 acres in Gaithersburg, Maryland, as a home for the indigent aged and has grown into the 16th largest system of not-for-profit Continuing Care Retirement Communities ("CCRCs").

Today the Asbury system serves more than 3,800 people and employs nearly 2,700. Their CCRCs offer independent living, assisted living, skilled care and memory support in three states. Asbury Communities expanded its services to include home and community-based services outside their communities in 2012, and recently affiliated with Calvery County Nursing Center in Southern Maryland.

BHI Senior Living, Inc.
5415 Bearberry Lane
Indianapolis, IN 46268
www.bhiseniorliving.org

John Dattilo, President & CEO
Ronald Lane, Board Chair

ABOUT

BHI Senior Living, Inc. opened its first Continuing Care Retirement Community in 1952. Today, they have 4 locations in Indiana — Hoosier Village in Indianapolis, the Towne House in Fort Wayne, Four Seasons in Columbus, and Wesley Mannor in Frankfort. Each community offers a broad spectrum of choices for seniors: independent living, assisted living, memory care, skilled nursing, and rehabilitation services.

Named Baptist Homes of Indiana, Inc. since the 1960s, BHI Senior Living, Inc. changed its name in 2011 to reflect that their communities are inclusive and open to individuals of all denominations and backgrounds — while maintaining its link to the organization’s faith-based past.
Hillcrest’s roots were planted in 1947, when La Verne residents partnered with the Church of the Brethren to create a retirement home for the community. With 6.5 acres and a little good fortune, Hillcrest provided La Verne’s seniors with 10 cottages, a chapel and a manor.

Over the years, Hillcrest has evolved, growing to accommodate healthcare needs and a rising population. The property now spans more than 50 acres and has undergone numerous upgrades, replacements and additions. The community now includes The Village Center, a progressive Aquatic and Fitness Center, the Dean Kieffaber Chapel, new residential homes in Pinecrest, Birch Court, Maple Court and The Lofts. Hillcrest maintains top-notch healthcare facilities to offer services that fit the needs of each resident.

Kevin McLeod, President & CEO
Dianne Stimson, Board Chair

ABOUT

Founded by Dale Kline and a select group of retirement industry professionals in 1983, Carolina Meadows was envisioned to be an alternative to traditional retirement communities, as a space that facilitated convenient and comfortable living, and a place well-educated, articulate people could see themselves living. Kline’s vision revolved around creating an equity-based community with maximum resident participation, where residents enjoy the advantages of ownership linked with the security of available services as they progress along the continuum of aging.

More than 30 years later, two non-profit organizations, Carolina Meadows, Inc. and the Carolina Meadows Resident Association, work together to create the ultimate nonprofit retirement community. Carolina Meadows, Inc. has grown to serve over 700 residents at their 166-acre campus.
